

Wrap Up Stoplight Questions

1.What is a Python library and how do you include one in your script?

A python library is something you can install within python and you can include it in your python script by using import

2.What does it mean for elements of a circuits to be in series vs. in parallel?

A series mean it goes one after another and then a parallel is when two programs are running at the same time

3.Can you create a circuit of 3 light bulbs in series? Why or why not?

Yes, you can because you can just put on after another